

Responsibilities

Northumberland Wildlife Trust is not a Public Body and has no statutory responsibility with regard to regulating activities on marine protected areas. They manage or own parts of the foreshore within Northumberland and work locally to promote better understanding and protection of the natural environment.